5. GENERAL MANUFACTURING REQUIREMENTS

- In spun-concrete pole technology, the spinning and the tensioning of the steel strands produce a dense and pore-free surface that must be extremely resistant to aggressive environmental media such as air and frost, and to other influences such as fire and mechanical damage.

5.1 MOULDS

- Moulds shall be of steel and shall be of rigid construction to prevent distortion. The moulds shall not allow any leakage of cement grout in casting. The holes in the end plates, for the H.T. wires shall be accurately drilled by jig to ensure interchangeability.
- Before the wires are stretched and tensioned it should be ascertained that all the moulds are thoroughly cleaned from grit and it should be fitted rigidly and waste oil applied inside the moulds for easy separation of poles from the moulds.
- In the case of the long line method of manufacture the casting bed shall have provision to ensure correct alignment of the moulds. The moulds shall be free to move/slide along the line to permit transfer of prestressing force along the line without restraint.
- The Manufacturer shall have to engrave TPNODL, PO.NO, Pole No, Manufacturer's Name, and Casting Date on the pole.

5.2 STRETCHING OF WIRES

- In the stretching of the H.T. Steel wires, the tensile force in each 7mm diameter HT wire should be 1470 N/mm². The anchoring of the stretched wires shall be such that during manufacture and until the wires are released, no slipping occurs.
- The tensioning of prestressing steel shall be carried out in a manner that will induce a smooth and even rate of increase of stress in the wires.
- Tensioning shall be done by means of a device either with chain pulley block or power operated hoist with the help of dynamometer.
- The HT steel wires do not come in contact with waste oil of moulds.
- Alignment and levels of the pedestal foundations are in order after stretching. Deformity in moulds is not permitted.
- All components of moulds like side channels and bottom plates should be assembled and tightened and brought to the true alignment.

- Pole to be tested shall be selected at random by the Engineer. One hour before the tests, the poles shall be given a coat of lime wash in order to make the cracks easily visible. The poles shall be tested as per the Annexure enclosed to this tender.

10.2.1 COMPRESSIVE STRENGTH TESTS OF CONCRETE

- Test cubes of size 15 cm X 15 cm X 15 cm shall be made and consolidated from the same concrete simultaneously with the poles. The cubes shall be cured along with the poles in the same manner and tested prior to transfer of pre stress, to check that the concrete has developed the requisite minimum compressive strength specified at transfer. The remainder of cubes shall be cured as specified in IS-456-2000 and tested at the end of 28 days to determine the concrete strength at that age. The pre stress will be released only if the concrete has attained the minimum strength at transfer.

10.2.2 MODULUS OF RUPTURE TEST OF CONCRETE

- The modulus of rupture test of concrete shall be carried out on concrete poles as specified in IS-516. The results obtained shall be supplied to the Engineer for information.

10.2.3 CHECK FOR DIMENSIONAL TOLERANCE AND FINISH

The poles shall be examined visually for finish and free from surface defects. The dimensional tolerances specified, directed by the Engineer.

10.2.4 STATIC BENDING STRENGTH TEST OF POLES

- The following cracking failure moments of the poles shall be ascertained by recording the corresponding loads.
 - First crack moment
 - Failure moment
- The cracking moment shall be that moment at which when a load is applied on the pole for testing as specified below, the pole just begins to develop hair line crack(s) barely perceptible to the naked eye of a length of 15 mm and above. The failure moment shall be the moment corresponding to that load beyond which a further load increment shall be no longer possible due to the progressive deflection of pole.
- The loading arrangements for conducting the static bending strength tests shall be with the load applied at 0.6 m from top of the pole. Bottom supports shall be carefully fixed to avoid un-even leveling and the bearing surfaces shall be proper to ensure uniform line contact with concrete surface. Any roughness and unevenness of concrete in the tearing area shall be made up with plaster of Paris gypsum or suitable rubber packing. The testing shall be done at point of application of load, fixing the pole from the bottom at 1.5m height.
- When testing the concrete poles the formation of the hair cracks shall be carefully observed and the load shall be increased up to the point at which hair cracks just perceptible to the naked eye appear and load noted. The loads shall be increased at the rate of 50 Kgs the interval between two installments being 1 minute for observing cracking moment and failure moment.

10.2.5 FREQUENCY OF CHECK AND TESTING :

- For each lot of poles, compressive strength tests on concrete both at 28 days and transfer of load shall be carried out on a minimum of 3 cubes each time.

- The modulus of rupture test of concrete shall be carried out at the rate of one pole per day for the first 1500 poles produced. Thereafter, it will be sufficient if a minimum of one pole is tested for week's production.
- For the check and tests on the poles, the number of poles to be tested and the frequency of testing shall be as follows :
 - Dimensional checks and surface finish :

The frequency of dimensional check shall be at the rate of 10% from each lot of pole for dimensions like length, breadth, width where such dimensions depend up on the accuracy of the mould.
 - Static Bending Strength:

In case of lots whose works concrete cube strength is equal to or more than 500 Kg/Sq.cm, the Static Bending tests shall be carried out at 0.6m from top of pole at the rate of one pole for every 200 poles manufactured.
- Inspection
 - The TPNODL may carry out inspection at any stage of manufacture. The successful tenderer shall grant free access to the representative of TPNODL at a reasonable time when the work is in progress. Inspection and acceptance of any material under this specification by the purchaser shall not relieve the supplier of his obligation of furnishing materials in accordance with the specification and shall not prevent subsequent rejection if the material is found to be defective.
 - The supplier shall keep the representative of TPNODL informed in advance about the manufacturing programme so that arrangements can be made for inspection. The TPNODL reserves the right to insist for witnessing the acceptance/routine testing of the bought out items. The supplier shall give 15 days (for local supply) 30 days (in case of foreign supply) advance intimation to enable the TPNODL to depute its representative for witnessing the acceptance and routine tests.
